

Please join us as we share thoughts sparked by these courageous speakers.

Speakers will share personal stories illustrating how a particular value expressed itself in their lives. The speaker will then join a dialogue with participants .

Cost is free for members of the Vail Leadership Institute, $5 for students and $10 for others.

Program generously sponsored by the Vail Daily. Complimentary refreshments provided by Foods of Vail.

Due to limited seating, reservations are required.

VAIL LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

Defining Moments Speaker Series

“Experience is not what happens to a man; it is what a man does with what happens to him.”

- Aldous Huxley

Though we might thank our mothers and fathers for teaching us our values, it is from our own experience we truly learn. As we reflect upon a life, we recognize moments that shaped us and, ultimately, made us who we are. These moments are our great stories.

Each of us has a unique experience, each a great story to tell. The Vail Leadership Institute’s Defining Moments Speaker Series highlights guests you might know...telling stories you might not. The stories demonstrate the expression of a particular value or character transformation in a life.

After sharing their stories, each speaker joins participants in enlightening dialogue to further explore the significance of values in our lives.

For information and reservations contact the Vail Leadership Institute at 970-926-7800 or karen@vailleadership.org.

Sam Cassidy

Thursday, April 15
6:00-8:00 p.m.
Beaver Creek Club

As former Colorado Lieutenant Governor (1994-1995) and State Senator, Sam Cassidy is best known for his political acumen and success. It surprises some, then, that it is really Sam’s diverse business, rather than political, experience that has most molded his character and ethical perspective. Those business pursuits have kept him closely connected to Colorado’s growth and economic issues.

Sam is currently chair of the Department of Ethics and Legal Studies at the Daniels College of Business at the University of Denver. He is also clinical professor at DU and now shares his experience and ethical message with the next generation of business leaders. Don’t miss this opportunity to hear a voice that speaks with a unique perspective from the business, political and academic realms.
